ROMANTICISM

If one term can be used to describe the forces that have shaped the modern world, it is Romanticism. Romanticism had a dynamic impact on art, literature, science, religion, economics, politics and the individual's understanding of self. There is no single commonly accepted definition of Romanticism, but it has some features upon which there is general agreement. First of all, it was a rejection of the Enlightenment and the emphasis upon human reason. The Enlightenment thinkers asserted that the world of nature is rationally ordered and that human reason, therefore, can analyse, understand and use it. On the basis of this understanding, a rational society can be constructed. These were ideas that were almost totally opposed by romantics. Romanticism did not appear suddenly. If a date were to be chosen, however, 1774 would be a useful one. It was the publication year of Johann von Goethe's 'Sorrows of Werther', a novel about a young man who is so disappointed in love that he kills himself. This fictional suicide brought on many real ones as the novel's vogue swept across Europe.

48) Concerning a definition of Romanticism, it is made clear in the passage that ----- .

- a) nobody agrees on anything about this movement
- b) Romanticism developed in parallel to the Enlightenment
- c) nobody has ever attempted to define exactly what it was
- d) it's difficult to define the term and there's much disagreement
- e) it had many ideas in common with the Enlightenment.

49) It may be inferred from the passage that Romantics believed that ----- .

- a) human beings were not capable of understanding and controlling nature
- b) the Enlightenment produced many important and useful ideas
- c) an ordered society was more important than any individual person
- d) the human mind could understand and analyse the natural World
- e) it was possible for humans to construct an ordered and rational society

50) 'The Sorrows of Werther' ----- .

- a) was written in 1774 as a textbook on Romanticism
- b) apparently caused many people to kill themselves
- c) was little-known when written, but is useful today
- d) is acknowledged as the book which created Romanticism overnight
- e) was the true story of a man who killed himself for love.
